COURSE DESCRIPTION

This course traces the rise of the modern German nation from the rise of so---called enlightened despotism in the mid---eighteenth century through the Cold War. We examine the gradual decline of Habsburg dominance; the ascent of a powerful economic, military, and intellectual "Germany" dominated by Prussia by 1871; the rupture of World War I and the ensuing radicalism of the Weimar Republic; the rise and fall of the Third Reich; and Germany's recovery from the catastrophes of the early twentieth century. We address the role of geography, culture, ethnicity and ideas in the construction of national identity and concentrate especially the ongoing interplay between politics and culture.

COURSE MATERIALS

David Blackbourn, History of Germany, 1780---1918: The Long Nineteenth Century 2nd ed. Paper. Blackwell Publishing, 2003 [ISBN: 063123196X]

Johann Wolfgang von Goethe, The Sorrows of Young Werther trans. David Constantine. Paper. Oxford World Classics, 2012 [ISBN: 978---0199583027]

All other readings, indicated by a bullet [•], will be 1) available on Pioneer Web, 2) accessible on the internet, or 3) handed out in class. Please note that the scheduling of all reading assignments is subject to change based on the ebb and flow of class discussions.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

For the most part, our course meetings center upon discussion of assigned primary and secondary sources, and it is through the free and open exchange of ideas that we all benefit the most from the class. Occasional lectures will elaborate upon the political and economic background provided by the textbook readings. Your preparation and engagement, then, are crucial to its success. Because discussion figures so heavily in the way we spend class time and wrestle together with the course materials, I sometimes send out discussion questions via email before we meet as a tool to help us focus on common themes and issues.

Please come to class awake and on time with the appropriate reading materials in hand. You are expected to attend class regularly, except in case of dire emergency. By definition, every absence from class has a negative impact upon the overall quality of our conversations. Your grade will be impacted accordingly. After three uncommunicated absences you will receive an F for the participation portion of the course grade. After four uncommunicated absences you will fail the course entirely. Please note that I place considerable emphasis on the quality of your contributions. Finally, because it can be difficult for everyone to participate equally in classes as large as ours, I will adjudicate your overall participation grade through a variety of mechanisms in addition to regular course discussions.

In addition to the mid---term and final exam requirements for this class, each student must complete a historiographical research project outside of class. You will work closely with the professor on the development of your topic, and the basic requirements include that you work with a minimum of four scholarly sources. At least two must be monographs and at least two must be article/chapter length works. This project culminates in a paper of 7---8 pages due near the end of the term. This assignment will be explained in detail early in the semester, and the relevant deadlines for its successful completion are indicated on the syllabus.

Your overall grade will be calculated according to the following formula:

Participation	30%
Mid-Term Exam	15%
Historiographical Paper Components (proposal, thesis + outline, draft)	5%
Historiographical Paper	20%
Final Exam	20%

Students with any form of documented disability are encouraged to contact me early in the semester so that we can arrange for your learning needs to be met and for you to participate fully in the class. You will also need to provide documentation of your condition(s) to the Dean for Student Academic Support and Advising, Joyce Stern, on the third floor of the JRC (x3702).
